

Current Course

The next FEBS advanced practical course “State-of-the-art alternative infection models to study molecular mechanisms of human fungal infections ” will take place from the 16th – 22nd of February 2020 in Jena, Germany.

Detailed information will be available via an official FEBS website; also application will be possible via the official website. As soon as this site has been set up it will be linked here.

The application deadline for the next course is the 31st October 2019. Detailed information can be found on the official FEBS course website - there you can also apply to participate.

The registration fee of 605 € will include all course materials, accommodation and meals. A limited number of FEBS YTF grants are available to support participants.

Details concerning the application and further information can soon be found on the official FEBS website.